Yanko Tea® is an herbal tea made from the leaves of chamaenerion, a flower common in the coniferous forests of the Ukrainian Carpathians at altitudes above 1,000 m. With delicate notes of honey and dried fruit, it is naturally caffeine-free, gently calming, and restorative. It is a local alternative to black and green tea: similar in appearance and taste structure, but without the sharp astringency and bitterness. Yanko Tea® is milder and more delicate, and can be drunk in the afternoon without affecting sleep quality.

YANKO TEA

Unlike most tea companies, we not only package our products, but also harvest and process the raw materials ourselves, ensuring the quality and safety of our goods throughout the entire production chain. Our production is certified in accordance with Regulation (EU) 2018/848 on organic production and labeling of organic products. All packaging is responsibly sourced and FSC® certified.

Our production facility is located in Khust, one of the westernmost towns in Ukraine. It is 6 km from Romania and 30 km from Hungary.

YANKO TEA

Technology

To preserve the properties of the leaves and achieve a distinct honey aroma, we process it using our own innovative FFFAN (Freezing For Flavor And Nutrition) technology, which involves freezing the leaves instead of the traditional withering within a 3-day production cycle that includes harvesting, freezing and defrosting, rolling, fermentation, and drying.

When frozen, the vitamins, antioxidants, micro- and macroelements of the leaves remain stable, while when wilted, they break down due to their thermolability (sensitivity to heat).

YANKO TEA

Black and green tea
(made from Camellia sinensis leaves)

Yanko Tea®
(made from Carpathian chamaenerion leaves)

Impact on forests and ecosystems	✗ Grown on cultivated plantations, which cause deforestation, loss of animal habitats, and soil degradation due to excessive water consumption and pesticide use	✓ It is a widespread wildflower that is the first to come to nature's aid after deforestation and fires, helping to restore soil fertility and create conditions for other plants to grow
Caffeine content	✗ Contains caffeine, which is addictive and can cause heart problems, headaches, and nervousness. Not recommended for consumption in the afternoon	✓ Naturally caffeine-free. Suitable for daily consumption. It can be drunk at any time of day. Calms, strengthens the immune system, and cleanses the body

Soothes and reduces anxiety
Due to the presence of flavonoids, magnesium, B-group vitamins, tannins, and mucilaginous substances

Restores strength and boosts immunity
High content of vitamin C (ascorbic acid)

Cleanses the body and helps eliminate toxins
Contains phenolic compounds and has a natural diuretic effect
